Students' Ideas On New Union Welcome

Opinions May Be Expressed
At Executive Meeting
Monday Night

Opinions and ideas as to the arrangement of the new Spartan Union will be welcome at next Monday night's Student Council meeting, according to Paul Becker, student body head. As originally planned, San Jose students will be given the opportunity to express their ideas concerning interior plans, and Monday night they are invited to the discussion in the Council rooms.

The governing body itself will discuss floor plans and much other business that will be presented at this first confab of the winter quarter.

Important matters will include the appointment of a social affairs chairman and a new member of the council replacing Bob Doerr who is doing student teaching.

The group will also make plans for the annual organization dinner to be held on January 20th, and arrangements will be considered concerning a joint meeting with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in regard to student problems.

Diogenes, Hang Up Your Lamp! Honest Fellow Found Here

FOUND AT LAST! an honest man.

Will someone please inform Diogenes that he may now retire in peace and hang up his lantern for good. There is an honest man on the San Jose State college campus, for an unknown individual has returned to Jess Wilson the ten dollars he lost on registration day.

It seems that Jess lost the wherewithal to be used in financing the furthering of his education. Without it he was lost. Was he to forego the expansion of his brain cells for the loss of a ten spot? Not Jess.

A timely notice inserted in the Daily brought results. When Jess appeared at the business office to inquire as to the possibility of someone having turned in a stray ten, he was greeted with an envelope.

Dropping 'Aid The Athlete' Policy Named Year's Biggest News Story; Student Union Selected Second;
Some Gain National Recognition

By FRANK BRAYTON

From January 1, 1936, to January 1, 1937, unprecedented events occurred on Washington Square. Some of them gained national press recognition; others were of interest only to the students and faculty of San Jose State.

Considering these incidents of the past year by their news value, the Spartan Daily wishes to submit the following ten as the most significant happenings on the campus during 1936.

1. Because of prominence gained in newspapers all over the United States, we nominate the sudden death of San Jose's "aid the athlete" policy as the greatest single news break of the year. Literally, "put on the spot" by a boycotting attitude of the Pacific Coast Conference, Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, college president, and Dudley S. DeGroot, director of athletics, were forced to abandon the benevolent plan on February 6.

SPARTAN UNION

2. The announcement of Sparta's long dreamed of student union follows a close second. For years, both faculty and student leaders have worked for another student cooperative, but it was not until December 7 that the student council, under President Paul Becker, presented actual plans for Spartan Union, to be located in the old city library.

3. Enrollment reached a new high at San Jose State during the Fall quarter of 1936, which Daily heads choose to evaluate as the third most important yarn. For the first time in history, registration figures topped the 3000 mark.

4. Death again took its toll of prominent campus figures throughout the year. On June 27, Webster Benton, graduate manager of athletics, died following an appendix operation. A month later Bob Roumasset, captain-elect of the wrestling team was instantly killed when struck by a train near San Carlos street.

HOLLIDAY DEATH

Dr. Carl Holliday, professor in the English department, died August 16 from injuries sustained in an automobile crash. Dr. Holliday, author and scholar, had been a San Jose faculty member since 1929.

5. Fraud claims a place in the highlights of the year, centering around the much discussed student body president election last June.

Four separate balloting were cast before Paul Becker finally won out over Jim Welch. The entire council was elected in the initial general election. Then Becker, Welch, and Bob Doerr announced themselves as candidates for president. In the election May 29, Becker failed by 20 votes to gain the required majority. In the re-election held June 3, Harold Kibby, election judge, reported stuffing of the ballot box, necessitating another election. Becker emerged the winner the fourth time by a large majority.

BENTON MEMORIAL

6. Early in September of this year an anonymous philanthropist founded a scholarship fund in memory of the late Webster Benton. The establishment of this Webster Benton Memorial commands a notable place in stories of the year.

7. An athletic experiment in the form of the Varsity House must not be omitted in this list. Outstanding athletes from each field banded together at the start of the Fall quarter, rented a house on Reed street,

Game Slated For Local Pavilion Saturday

Traditional Rivals Battle
In Initial Struggle Of
New Casaba League

By JACK MARSH

Traditional rivals in a new situation.

College of Pacific and San Jose State college, both members of the newly formed Northern California Intercollegiate Conference.

Thus unfolds the first chapter in the story of how the San Jose State Spartans and the College of Pacific Tigers met in the first league contest of any kind since San Jose State's withdrawal from the Far Western Conference.

SATURDAY NIGHT

The first of the chapter begins when Coach Jim Francis parades his striped Bengals upon the hardwood floor of Spartan pavilion this Saturday evening to do battle traditionally with Coach Bill Hubbard's 15-strong Spartans.

The chapter ends with the final score, at the final whistle.

Not since San Jose State, led by Davie Downs, "Shoes" Holmberg, Bud Hubbard and the rest of those boys humbled the invading Tigers in a Far Western Conference contest has San Jose State been able to look forward to a win over the Stockton team as instrumental in leading them to a conference title.

Help Needed On Rally Committee Says Free

Bob Free, newly elected rally committee head for the winter quarter, yesterday issued a call for student help in the group for this winter season.

"We would prefer to have freshmen on the squad but any upper classmen interested in joining the committee may do so," he stated.

Free has set a maximum of 15 students to work this semester, with the order that the "first come first served".

Applications for appointment on the committee may be made by calling Free at Ballard 1475 after six o'clock.

Serpentine, Confetti, Horns
To Be Distributed To
Merry Makers

By FRANCES CUENIN

Singing out the old and welcoming in the New Year, some 1000 State students will attend the first all-school New Year's Eve party ever to be held on the campus, when the men's gymnasium is opened for the event tonight at 8 o'clock.

Starting at an early hour and ending at an earlier one the next day, the first social affair of the winter quarter will be a true New Year's Eve party, with serpentine, confetti, horns, caps, and other noise makers being distributed

Featuring Miss Agnes Madden, State college freshman and former football queen, the Stanford Ambassadors will play for the dance and party, which will close at 1 o'clock of the New Year.

DANCING AND GAMES

For those who do not dance, general chairman Paul Becker, student body president, has announced that the small gymnasium will be opened for games. Spartan Knights, men's honor group, will conduct the games, which will be run all evening in conjunction with the dancing in the large gym.

In the large gym, the Y.W.C.A. will conduct songs and give special entertainment during the intermissions. The Y.M.C.A. will distribute all the noise makers and favors, which will be given gratis.

To facilitate introductions, name cards will be printed by the Spartan Spears, under the presidency of Mary Louis Zingheim. These tags will be pinned on each student, whether he be a stag, mem-

Basketball Cheer Section Formed

Organizing a rooting section for the basketball games, Bob Free, rally head for the winter quarter, announced yesterday that all students attending the game Saturday night in the men's gymnasium enter by the San Carlos street door.

Everyone owning a cap or pom-pom which were sold last quarter is urged to bring them and sit in the center section on the east side of the gymnasium.

A jazz band will play during the half time and during time outs. The yell leaders will also be in attendance to unify the section.

Free has issued a call for student sign-up on the committee, which when organized will contain 15 members. Freshmen are preferred, but upper classmen interested are urged to call Free at his home after six o'clock.

Thinking Is Way To Health Says Dr. Yates In Talk

You can think our way to health is a thought suggested by a lecture Dr. Dorothy Hazeltine Yates, Associate Professor of Psychology gave before members of the Northern Section of California Speech Therapists in San Francisco recently. "Academic Psychology and 'the Power of Thought' was the subject of her speech.

IMPROVE HEALTH

Though Dr. Yates emphasized the fact that though as such does not really give us helpful "sets", she showed that new adjustments of the nervous system accompanying thought may improve health.

"Thought is an accompaniment of activity of the nervous system," she said.

"Better adjustments in the nervous system, which accompany thought, may lead to better health, more efficiency, and improved traits of character," she explained and gave numerous examples from her own clinical practice.

PRIVATE PRACTICE

Dr. Yates who has for years had a private practice in her home as consulting psychologist, in addition to her classes here in the psychology department, has recently established an office in the Medical-Dental building to meet the demands of her patients.

She is also the author of several books among which are "A Study of Some High School Seniors of Superior Intelligence," and "Psychological Racketeers", as well as numerous articles in periodicals.

Notices

The Social Dancing club will hold its weekly meeting next Monday night, January 4, from 9 to 10 p.m. in Room 1 of the Art building.

All members please have their student body cards stamped and obtain guest cards from Mrs. Calkins in the women's gymnasium.

All technical students who expect to graduate in March or June make applications to me within the next four weeks. I have made appointments for most of these people. Any others should see me. There is a $1.50 fee for application. —Mr. Harrison Heath.

There will be a rehearsal of the Men's Verse Choir on Thursday at 12:00 in Room 165.

Pegasus Prexies FAIL TO MARRY As Tradition Falls

Pegasus, campus literary honor society, starts its activities this quarter on a mournful note. At a banquet to be given Tuesday, January 5, in honor of the new members, each person attending will present the epitaph he wishes to have engraved upon his tombstones.

WALLACE REFUSES

Rumor has it that this feeling of futility was engendered by the definite fracture of a cherished Pegasus tradition. It had been a custom of Pegasus presidents to marry or announce their engagement before the end of their terms of office, until Raymond Wallace succeeded to the job. He refused to marry—on the grounds that no one had asked him!

Rose Catherine Gunn, president during the fall quarter, also refused the sacrifice to Hymen, and Norman Dalkey, this quarter's man of the hour, will never be able—says Wallace—to find anyone who will have him.

MEETING TUESDAY

Accordingly, the members are writing short epitaphs of four to eight lines in anticipation of the death of the literary muse, and these will be presented at the banquet held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright, 1463 Martin avenue, next Tuesday at eight o'clock.

Spears Prepare Name Cards For New Year's Party

Plans for their part in the New Year's Eve Party occupied the chief attention of Spartan Spears Tuesday night at their first meeting of the quarter.

President Mary Louise Zingheim presided over the meeting which included a report from Marjorie Serio, chairman of the information booth on registration day, regarding this activity which is carried on each registration to aid students in registering.

Each Spear was given a list of students to contact by telephone so that every person on the campus will know about the New Year's Eve party. Beside this, the Spears are also responsible for placing name cards on each participant that evening.

Miss Twombly, faculty adviser, was also present at the meeting which was held in her classroom.

San Jose Players Select Quarter's First Production

"Murder Has Been Arranged", by Emelyn Williams, has been selected by San Jose Players as their first major production for the Winter quarter.

Mr. Hugh Gillis, director of the group, will hold tryouts for the play at an early date. Dates for presentation have not been set as yet.

Psychology and mystery are combined in this play, states Mr. Gillis. Presented last season in New York, the drama has not been produced by any amateur group in this vicinity.

In addition to this first drama, another production will be undertaken towards the end of the quarter, and two one-act play programs will also be presented by the group.

An important meeting of the Players will be held Monday at noon in Room 53. All members are requested to be present.

Miss Innes To Speak At Pre-Teacher Group Meet Wednesday Noon

Pointing out the pitfalls to be avoided in order to stay out of the ranks of the unemployed, Miss Lydia Innes, appointment secretary, will speak before the Sophomore pre-teacher training group in its first meeting of the new quarter Wednesday, January 6, at 12:30 in the Little Theater.

She will also reveal what the present demands are for teachers and the types of credentials preferred.

At a meeting of the cabinet members of the Freshman pre-teacher group Tuesday noon in the cafeteria it was decided that a general meeting would be held January 26 in the Little Theater.

The program will include a speaker, not yet selected, and entertainment by the Musketeers, popular college quartet.

Charles Leong Writes Again For Daily

The Spartan Daily is proud to welcome back to its staff a former member and popular columnist—Charles Leong.

An outstanding writer Leong has been on an extended sojourn in Hollywood connected with the motion picture industry.

Charles will begin next Tuesday with his former column, "Demi-Tasse", which will appear on the second page bi-weekly.

Rally Committee Plans Ride To C. O. P.

Plans are being formulated at the present time for a special chartered train to convey students to Stockton for a basketball clash with the College of Pacific Tigers, according to Bob Free, newly appointed rally committee head.

The Spartan cagers, who meet the Pacific five here Saturday, will play the return game on January 16, just two weeks from the coming Saturday. The affair between the rival schools promises to be one of the best of the year.

Two hundred students will be needed on the special train to secure the very moderate rates offered. If the required number make reservations for the excursion, the round trip should not exceed $3.00 or $3.50 per person.

Just Among Ourselves

By Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie

Judging from the clippings, our football team seems to have taken the Islands by storm. ((Stormy trip over and played in a high wind.) I'm glad we are able to put on a good show for them.

The strike has had a paralyzing effect on the Islands, and any sort of a Mainland attraction was more than welcome. The two games drew 35,000 spectators, and that's a record. The Home of Crippled Children and the Police Pension Fund received welcome additions. It's great to be able to help in such worthy causes.

Surprising as it may seem, they have invited us back again. I should think two years in a row would be enough for them, but that doesn't seem to be the case. Evidently Dud and his boys are shownmen as well as players, and have proven themselves good "gates". Playing a university and a town team in six days right after a long boat trip and winning both seems to have inspired the well known Island fight. We may be asked again and again until they get a team that can lick us.

Our football teams seem to develop rather slowly. I suspect we are pressing too hard early in the season in order to get ready for heavy games. If we were to start with a somewhat lighter program we might make a better showing later on. As it is, we seem to play our very best game at Hawaii at the end of the season. If that keeps up we'll have to charter a ship next time and all go over. (Student Affairs Chairman, please note.)

That's right. Tomorrow's New Years. Well, well, and tonight's New Year's Eve. Odd, isn't it, that we have already had a week of school in the second quarter? It's not a bad time to start, however. Most of us will have only the one day for Christmas and one for New Years when we get through college, and our ample school vacation will look like heaven in the years to come.

I hope the party tonight will be high class in every particular. People with a minimum of brains get drunk on New Year's Eve. This party is for good intelligence and decency. We're planning to keep the drunks out so you will be able to come and bring your friends without embarrassment. I think the whole plan is a most happy one. Paul and his helpers are to be congratulated upon their prompt reaction to the situation.

Happy New Year, everybody!

Spartans Accept 1937 Island Bid

Arizona Cagers Defeat Spartans By 36-24 Score

Coach Bill Hubbard sat on the sidelines in Spartan pavilion last Tuesday evening and watched for the first time his 15 strong, 1937 basketball team in action as they were dumped by a fast-breaking snap-tossing Wildcat squad, 36-24.

It was too much DiGrazia as far as the Spartans were concerned in the first half. Employing a dribbling and passing fast-breaking offensive, Arizona broke into an early 6-3 lead, only to have the lead change hands no less than four times in the first half, terminated by a 13-13 tie through the one-handed efforts of Carroll, DeSelle and Mann.

FANCY SHOTS

Mann looked especially well during this first half offensive, handling the ball well and showing the fans of Sparta some plain and fancy one handed follow-in shots.

Arizona forged into the lead late in the first half when DiGrazia, one of the fastest small men seen in the local gym for some time, out-foxed guard Lloyd Thomas of the Spartans and dribbled around him for two points.

Mann followed with another of his one handed baskets from his guard position, only to have those two digits nullified by a long field goal by Barrington, leaving the score 17-15 in favor of the invaders.

BAD PASSES

State had two swell chances to tie up the ball game before the end of the half when Carroll dribbled into the bucket on two occasions, only to deem it wiser to pass to Berry instead of attempting to hit the hoop himself. Both passes were a little too fast for Berry to handle, and State's score remained at 15 while Arizona moved their's up one digit, the result of a foul shot by Coltrin, Wildcat forward.

Arizona pulled away from the Spartans in the second half through field goals by Coltrin, Barringer, and Jackson, leaving the score at 29-20.

GRIDDERS PLAY

At this point Coach Hubbard injected McPherson and Thomas, who had seen previous action, and Hudson into the fray. Fresh from Honolulu, the three gridders added brawn if nothing else to the already rough game.

DeSelle tucked one away from under the bucket for 2 points, and Herman followed with another by a one handed hook shot from the corner which swished through the netting. Helm came back with another bucket for Arizona, and Crawford retaliated with a shot the result of a fast-breaking dribble out of the spot, one-handed. Warford, Wildcat guard, tucked two away neatly to end the ragged contest, 36-24.

Notices

The first quarterly meeting of the Pre-nursing club will be held January 4 at noon in Room S227. Election of officers will take place at this time. All girls please be present as this meeting is an important meeting. Bring your lunches.

Organization heads please look in your co-op boxes.

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1936

PRESS BOX PARADE

By JAMES MARLAIS

Tsk! tsk! tsk! What have we here? New Year's eve upon us and the start of another long stretch. While pugnacious Gadzoos belt out the old in favor of the new, we hear sweet little voices from the Islands. The Hawaiians are picking themselves off the turf, asking for more. The Spartans have accepted. It looks like the State grid team is going to have another "Grand" season. All in all with our basket-less cagers crashing the new cage loop, it looks like a swell year for the Spartan.

As half-sogged gents o' the street and giggling hussies, along with thousands upon thousands of people, usher in the New Year, a few of the gent who don the moleskins will be sleeping. To be sure, for some it will be a nightmare. Energetic officials from the two great bowls—the Sugar and the Rose—have not been perfect little gentlemen. Back and forth over the broad expanse of our little country, they've been makin' faces and growlin' at each other.

Those genial gents from the South lay claim to the game that will decide the national championship. Folks from the Arroyo Seco, however, tell us they have the cream of the nation's football teams . . . and in addition they bawl, "we've got prestige". The coaches have done little talking, always insisting, when they do gab, that the other team is the strongest. Let us see what the coaches have to say.

"Best team I ever coached," pouts Jimmy Phelan of his Washington Huskies. This is taking in a lot of territory as Phelan held the Big Ten scepters as coach of Purdue University in '29. Still insisting that the Husky picked a "soft touch" in Dr. John Bain Sutherland's Panthers, we stick out our necks in saying that Pitt will hit the floor for the fourth time in their long Rose Bowl career. Score? With a favorable break from the weather man, we should say, Washington 13—Pittsburgh 0.

For the little Broncos in their gold silk pants, cardinal jerseys and black helmets, it will be a very bad afternoon. Coach Bernie Moore and his powerful Bayou Tigers will prove too much. Louisiana State, the team that should have gone to the Rose Bowl will take the Mission City boys in stride. Should we say 20 to 0?

Grid scraps of the day. It seems that, as is the fashion of every football team from way down Minnesota up to San Jose State to huddle their noggins in an effort to choose an all-opponent team. Flash! It seems that we didn't hit that meek little kitten from the College of Pacific hard enough to dent their first eleven. Only one San Jose griddier gets a place and it's on the second team. It is Glenn DuBose who, incidentally, is our captain for the 1937 season.

More fortunate, indeed, were we in little Humboldt State's estimation. It will be remembered that this little, should we say "one horse" college dumped us 20 to 0. That little group of Thunderbolt gridders placed three Spartans and three Broncolets on their opponent eleven. Glenn DuBose and George Cannell were voted the guard posts while Big "Bull" Lewis was given a seat on the first team fullback berth.

CAGE CONFERENCE OPENS SATURDAY

Conference, however, San Jose State's Spartans have a goal to attain. Pacific, St. Mary's, S.F.U., Santa Clara, and San Jose State, worthy teams all, are members of the conference.

Stockton's Bengal Tigers have played two games and lost one to the Stockton Y.M.I. San Jose State, with more game experience, lost to the same Stockton Y.M.I. outfit.

Coach Bill Hubbard plans to start the same working combination as was started against Arizona. With Carroll and Mann at guards, Thomas at center, and Crawford and DeSelle at forwards,

Frosh Meeting Today Starts Talent Search

The first freshman orientation of the new quarter will be held today in the Morris Dailey auditorium to initiate a search for talent for freshman programs scheduled for the winter quarter.

Entertainment for freshman orientations this quarter will be provided by the group divisions of the class, according to Dean Charles B. Goddard.

Class officers will not be nominated until the end of the quarter so that students will have the opportunity to recognize the leaders.

Hubbard will fill in with members of the former squad of 12 and also with McPherson, L. Thomas, and Hudson, the three Honolulu-flavored gridders who have returned to complete the squad of 15.

COLLEGE PREXY SANCTIONS THIRD FOOTBALL INVASION

FIGHTERS PREP FOR COLLEGE BOUTS FRIDAY

By WALT HECOX

Summarizing the result of the efforts of the San Jose State entries during the recent Golden Gloves tournament held in San Francisco, we find the local boys maintaining the high standards set for them by leather tossers of the preceeding year.

Out of the four State entries there emerged one San Francisco Golden Gloves champ, one runner-up, and two semi-finalists.

GOLD MEDAL

Stan "Phantom Eyes" Griffin, went through all his heats victorious and, after overcoming some stiff opposition in the person of Doug Carver of the Oakland YMCA, received the gold medal for winning the 175 pound class.

George Latka, 135 pounder, and Captain Bob Harris, 160 pounder, found themselves victims of bad decisions in the final and semi-final rounds respectively. Of the two Harris received the worst deal, when, after producing a pair of rubber legs under Mario Spampinato during the semi-finals, the Olympic club boy was made a gift of the fight. Disgruntled fans agreed that if the San Francisco lad had not worn the Winged-O and red pants of the Olympic club the result would probably have been different. Spampinato went on to win the championship.

LOSES DECISION

Bill Radunich won the favor of the crowd when he lost a clean cut decision to Jim Sverchek of the Olympic club.

After a week's rest, Stan Griffin returned to the Dreamland ring to fight in the Inter-city Golden Gloves. Here he met the tough, stocky Vic Nardoni of Los Angeles and was defeated by the short southerner in a onesided battle. Griffin was evidently out of condition which was apparent during the fracas. Only during a short flurry in the second round did the lanky Stater show the form he displayed in winning the finals the week before.

INTERCOLLEGIATES

In preparation for the approaching Intercollegiate season, Coach Portal is holding the annual all college tourney Friday, January seventh, and fighters of every description have responded to his call and are working in the gym daily.

With the exception of the featherweight and junior light heavyweight classes, each division will have at least three men battling for the crown. Anthony Pisano is the lone hope in the featherweight class and Gordon Begg, hard hitting winner of last year's novice tourney, has appeared on the scene and apparently intends to strive for further pugilistic honors.

Bill Radunich received a broken thumb during his battle with Jim Sverchek and will not be ready to participate in time for the all-college. Dr. Slatery states that he will probably be unable to box for at least three months.

NOTICE

There will be a rehearsal of Lois Lack's Speaking Choir on Thursday at 12:00 in Room 157.

Hawaiian Officials Praise State Gridders

San Jose State's victorious gold and white gridders go "Hawaiian" for the third straight year, it was revealed yesterday after a conference with Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie.

Offered a three year contract to play in Hawaii, the Spartans are free to accept any or all offers from Shrine officials, the college president stated.

THREE MORE YEARS

Shrine organizations in the islands who have sponsored Spartan appearances for the past two years want the locals to return next year and twice more the following year.

Coach Dud DeGroot, who has just returned from the islands whose team scored brilliant victories over the University of Hawaii and the Kamehameha alumni, received word from the Shriners and stated that all decisions in the matter would rest with President MacQuarrie.

HARDEST BLOCKERS

Praising San Jose State's great showing and sportsmanship, Hawaiian officials remarked that the Spartans were the cleanest playing, and yet, the hardest blocking gridders ever to invade the islands.

San Jose played to capacity crowds of 18,000 in three games in which they participated on Hawaiian soil. A year ago, the Gold and White went over for the first time and defeated the Kamehameha school and alumni.

Stockton Tarzans Defeat Spartan Freshmen 42-31

A sharp shooting demon in the form of a basketball player proved a little too much for the San Jose State Frosh five as they were given a 42 to 31 trouncing by the invading Stockton high school Tarzans last Tuesday evening in the local gym.

Ray Marsh was the demon mentioned above and all he did was to score 12 points during the course of the evening. It didn't matter where he was, Marsh would swish the ball through the hoop from any angle. Putting it all together he was just too much for Birdsell, Hodgson, Johnson and Co. to handle.

The Spartan babes have improved quite a bit since their last appearance and with Don Johnson and Doyle Moberly leading the scoring, the Gold and White showed a fairly smooth offense. Delbert Birdsell, former Palo Alto high school star, also gave a good account of himself tallying three field goals and one free shot. Moberly was high point man for the locals with eight.

There will be another Soph meeting today at 11 in Room 24.

New Yugoslavian Student Finds Registration Trying Experience

By MAXINE WALTHER

Exasperating as registration day is for most students, it must have been maddening indeed to Nikolas Milnarich who registered here this week from faraway Yugoslavia.

Though American born he was taken back to Yugoslavia at so early an age he remembers none of the English language.

AUDITING COURSES

The 20 year old boy is a commerce major and is this quarter auditing his courses because of the obvious language handicap.

He has explained through his interpreters who have been Dr.

Earl Wendel Count, Assistant Professor of Zoology who speaks Bulgarian, and other State students who speak a tongue similar to his, that he wishes to learn the English language and its grammar properly and feels that a college is the only place to do it.

Enrollment Shows Decrease Of 300

Final Registration Figures Not Yet Available

Indicating a decrease of approximately 300 as compared with the enrollment of the Autumn quarter, but showing a substantial increase over the enrollment of the 1935-36 Winter quarter, 2678 persons have received registration books for the present term.

This figure does not represent the final enrollment, states Registrar Joe H. West, as some of the books have not been returned and many persons have not registered yet.

A decrease is to be expected, Mr. West explains, because many students who are admitted on probation, or on one quarter trial drop out after this first quarter.

In the past several members of the faculty have been invited to read papers before the annual assembly. Held each year at different colleges and universities on the coast, Dr. Poytress expressed hope that San Jose State might sometime in the future be selected as seat of the convention.

Also being held at Mills from Monday to Wednesday was a meeting of the American Philosophical Association, which was presided over on the opening day by Mr. Elmo Robinson of the Psychology and Philosophy department.

8. Again sensationalism hit the Quad, when Jerry Girdner's election to the yell leader's post early in October was contested by a petition asking for his removal on grounds that the election was illegal. For several days the campus was astir, but the petition eventually died out when the instigators of the circular realized the uselessness of their efforts.

9. Drawing favorable comment was the "Grid Queen" innovation that proved so popular during the football season. This idea, a "brain-child" of the Publications department, gave an added touch to the games in Spartan stadium.

10. Although a short lived proposition, State's fluctuating humor magazine, El Toro, cannot be excluded from the "Big Ten".

SPORTS NOT LISTED

There are many other items that could be mentioned in this list, but the line must be drawn somewhere. We have tried to make this selection unbiased. It might be pointed out, however, that all sport stories have been omitted purposely, leaving the Sports Editor a free hand in that field.

Falling Rock Probable Cause Of Disaster As College Forced To Buy Drinks

Shortly before Christmas the well on which the campus depends for water, collapsed, leaving the college without its water supply.

The well which pumps over 190,000 gallons a day was installed four years ago and until now has given good service. Mr. E. S. Thompson, business manager for San Jose State college, stated that the college is spending $150 to have the well thoroughly checked to see if it is worth repairing.

CAUSE OF COLLAPSE

The collapse was probably caused by stone and gravel falling in on the well casing, obstructing the pipe. The obstruction occurred at the 270 foot mark and an impression block made of wax has been dropped to determine the extent of the damage.

For the last two months the well has been pumping sand, leading to the belief that the casing is broken. The college is now getting its water from the city wells and will continue until a new well is drilled or until the present one is repaired. It is costing the college about $1,000 a month for the water consumed from the city, and in the summer the cost will be much greater because of the lawn sprinklers.

REPORT EXPECTED

Mr. Thompson expects to receive a report today from the engineer who inspected the well. If the report shows a new well is needed, it will be several months before a new one could be drilled.

A new well, if needed, will cost the school between $3000 and $6000. At present the well is costing the college $75 a month for electricity to pump the water that the school uses. This is compared with $1,000 a month that the college is paying to the city.

Seven years ago the same thing happened to the old well the college was using and it could not be repaired.
